THE SERENADE ON SATURDAY NIGHT .- The bill for the admission of Oregon into the Union having passed on Saturday evening, it was resolved to celebrate the event by a general serenade. About half-past nine o'clock a large concourse of citizens, headed by the full Marine Band, marched to Brown's Hotel, where Gen. Joseph Lane, Senator elect from the State of Oregon, is stopping. After several stirring airs had been executed by the band, Gov. Stevens, of Washington Territory, appeared upon the balcony and introduced Gen Lane, who briefly addressed the assemblage, as follows:

Gentlemen and fellow-citizens: With all my heart I thank you for this manifestation of your high sense of the importance of the admission of Oregon. Another State has been admitted into the Union, and you have the kindness to come and rejoice with me. We have cause to rejoice Our whole country has cause of gratulation; for, in my judgment, the admission of Oregon is a great event-a national blessing; and I look upon this day's work as the greatest Congress has ever performed. It is an event for which I have for months labored with all the energies of my nature. I did everything within my power to procure action upon the bill for our admission at the last session; and during the present session, until to-day, I have labored most assiduously and earnestly for this great purpose. Often, indeed, have I entertained serious fears for the result; but the important measure was in the hands of Stephens, the eminent statesman and patriot, and most nobly, gallantly has he discharged his duty. Our hopes have been crowned with success; and Oregon is one of the States of our grand Union. Another link in the chain that binds the States together has been added, and is in every way calenlated to add strength and stability to the bonds of union connecting these States together. A bulwark has this day been raised on the rock-bound shores of the Pacific against foreign invaders, and a fresh assurance has been given for the perpe uity of the Union. Oregon has been settled by the hardy and the enterprising from every section of the country; and I feel sure that her sons will recognize no North, no South, no East, no West in the fulfillment of their duties as citizens of the whole Union.

Twenty States have been added to the confederacy since the establishment of our Independence, and it is gratifying to know that each and every one of them have been admitted under Democratic administrations, or by a Democratic Congress We now have two States on the Pacific coast, and, ere long, we will have the Ter-ritory now represented by my worthy and talented friend, Gov. Stevens-who has had the kindness to introduce me to you in so handsome a manner-knocking at the doors for admission : then we will have our portion of the Pacific coast organized into States, to further strengthen the bonds of union

Now, my friends, although a man of iron, l have been so constantly on duty, laboring day and night to bring about this glorious result, that I find myself worn out; and, for once in my life, in need of repose. I will, therefore, intro-duce to you my friend, Mr. Voorbees, U. S. Distriet Attorney of Indiana, a young gentleman who has made more speeches in support of Demo-crat c principles than any man of his age. He was succeeded by D. W. Voorhees, Esq.

U. S. District Attorney for the State of Indiana Hon. M. H. Nichols, of Ohio; Senator Green, of Missouri; Hon. Charles L. Scott, of California; Hon John Letcher, of Virginia, at made short congratulatory speeches, which were received with great enthusiasm by the crowd. A procession was then formed and the line of march taken up for the White House, and the whole space in front of the porch was speedily filled by an immense throng. The President, in response to repeated calls, appeared at a window. He presumed, he said, from this handsome demonstration, that the Oregon bill had passed. It had not yet come to him, but when it did be rather thought he should not veto it. He sines cerely congratulated them upon the advent of another sovereign State into the glorious confederacy of republics-a State, too, situated on the very shores of the Pacific, favored with a fine chimate, an exuberant soil, and filled with tried and noble Democrats. The elevation of General Lane, who had proved himself a gallant soldier in war, and a great statesman in peace, was also a fit subject for rejoicing. It was an honor that that he had fairly deserved by his exertions to bring this new State into the Union. Expansion was in future the policy of our country; cowards alone feared and opposed it. Thanking them them for the honor paid him, Mr Buchanan concluded by calling for Yankee Doodle, which was admirably performed by the Marine Band. From the Executive Mansion the procession marched to the residence of Hon. Eli Thayer, of Massachusetts, who thanked them for the honer nnexpectedly conferred upon him by the visit, and addressed them in a few appropriate remarks.

Crossing the avenue to Willards' Hotel, Mr. Comins was called out and greeted with cheers as he appeared on the balcony. He thanked the company for the unexpected compliment shown him, and made a short speech. Upon arriving at the residence of Mr. Orr. Speaker of the House of Representatives, it was announced that he had retired for the night, and that he appreciated the honor conferred upon him by the visit of his fellow citizens Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, though loudly called for, was unable to respond, in consequence of the fatigue incident to his labors in behalf of the very result which had caused such general rejoicing in the Metropolis of the Union. Mr. Smith, of Tennessee, speaking for Mr Stephens, returned thanks for the compliment tendered to him. He hoped that the event of the day would redound to the honor and interest of the country, as he was satisfied that it would.

Mr. J. C. Breckinridge, Vice President of the United States, responded briefly and happily. It did not amount to much in the United States to admit a new State, for that was done every year or two, and they expected to continue to do it, until we had a whole hemisphere dotted with new States, from the Polar seas to the tropics. He confessed that he felt a deep interest in this question, in his limited sphere, and whenever he could, he gave the bill a push. He did not doubt that the President would sign the bill on Monday next, and then he expected to swear both Senators in to stand by the Constitution. Being called upon to say something about Cuba, he remarked that we talked too much and did too little. When England wished to do a thing, she did it, and talked afterward. If the Island of Cuba, instead of being placed at the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico, laid at the opening of the English channel, England would take it in ten days. He was in favor of the acquisition of Guba. He would not rob for it, but he would act with any portion of his fellow-citizens in using all honorable means to acquire it. Mr. Stevenson, of Kentucky, also responded to the call made upon him, and congratulated his hearers upon the admission of a new star to the Rownyisk - Yesterday evening, complaint was made to the police that a number of rowdies were roving about the northern part of the city, near the boundary, committing what depredations they pleased, stopping persons on the road, and chasing females and children. At the Park, a German county constable was dreadfully beaten by a man who he identified as Dan Stewact. He made his complaint at the guard-house previous to the hour of going on duty, and Lieut. Thomas immediately dispatched a squad to arrest Stewart if he could be found, and directed a combined search by the northern beats from First to Fourteenth streets, to detect and arrest the remainder of the crowd. The German was awfully bruised, and his head and face were badly He is an inoffensive man, and the attack upon him must have been made from pure dev-

Stewart was arrested by Lleat. McHenry and Officer Gormley for assaulting and beating H. Hoen, a county constable. The witnesses on both sides not being present, the preliminary statement, on oath of Mr. Hoen was taken in order to identify the party, and Daniel Stewart was held to baff for a further hearing by Justice Donn. Wm. Smith, drunk and disorderly; fine and costs $1.15. Thirty-seven lodgers.

DONNELLY'S CONCERT ROOM, corner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue, was crowded on Saturday night, we hear.

POLICE APPAIRS IN THE NORTHERN LIBER. 188-Before Justice Williams .- Charlotte Jones was tried for fighting and general disorderly behavior in the public streets. She was fined $5 94. Mathias Butler, do ; do.

Wm. James, for fighting in his own house, was fined $5 94. James Smallwood, for going into Wm. James' house and kicking up a row, and participating in the fight, was fined $5.94.

Michael Fleming was hauled up for selling liquor in smaller quantities than the law allows, without a license. It appeared in evidence that Michael keeps a small grocery, known in the neighborhood as the "Wood-Sawyers Hotel," and is suspected of selling three-cent glasses of spiritual relief to colored persons who are in the habit of congregating on the premises. A white man, who was the prosecuting witness in this case, testified that he went into Michael's store and saw a colored man there, who first pur-chased some loaves of bread, which he paid for, and then treated the witness to a three-cent whisky, and himself to a ditto, paying for the witness's drink, and getting trust for his own "nipper," on account of the exhausted condition fine of $20 and $1 27 costs.

of his exchequer. Michael was let off with a The juveniles in the Northern Liberties, or some of them, are an eccentric race of bipeds, always contriving to get themselves or their parents into a scrape, which has to be adjusted by a visit to the magistrate's office, and a consequent depletion in the region of the pocket. A number of these unruly chaps are in the practice of annoying Mr. McDonnald, a peaceful shoemaker, who keeps a shop a short distance north of the Northern Liberties' market house. They stone his windows, fight on his pavement, swear smoke, make wry faces, etc., and even go so far as to commit nuisances on and about his premises to his constant annoyance. Thursday they con-trived to exasperate poor McDonnald, who seized upon his leather strap and rushing out on the pavement laid about him in all directions and happened to strike the son of Captain Degges. The Captain rushed into McDonald's shop to chastise him for striking his boy, and was about to belabor the shoemaker, when Mr. Capstan, a friend of McDonnald's who was present, inter-posed, and suggested that the affair might be peaceably adjus ed This interposition exasperated the Captain and he gave Mr. Capstan a lefthander which sent him spinning round like a top, and landed him in an undignified position. Capstan then appealed to the law, and soon afterwards Degges was urhered into the awful presence of its functionary, who, hearing the evidence, was about to hold the Captain to bail, but at the request of Capstan, who stated that he did not desire to give his persecutor too much trouble about the affair, provided he would behave better in the future, the contemplated action was suspended, and Captain Deggs bound over in the sum of $200 to keep the peace gener-

Fifth District - Very little business has been done at this office during the last and present month, although some warrants have been issued and judgments rendered for proved violations of the city ordinances prohibiting forestalling, street nuisances, the sale of spirituous liquors, ale and porter, and without license. In the cases of forestalling, the defendants (Mallard and Black) employed an able member of the bar to make their defence, but he failed to convince Justice Thompson that the defendants had not rendered themselves liable to the penalty of $10 and costs, which were imposed in both cases. From the decision of the magistrate an appeal has been taken in the case of Mallard, and it is intimated by the counsel of Black that he too will appeal. It will not be a matter of regret, we learn, to the Fifth district police magistrate that his decisions in these cases should undergo a thorough investigation before the Circuit Court, for the legal points made in the defence are of an important character, and alike interesting to our citizens and the keepers of provision stores, now become numerous all over the city.

ally, and particularly for a space of twelve cal-

Mendicants and hogs continue to infest our avenues, streets, and allevs, to the great annoykeepers, and other good citizens. In the Fifth district complaints have recently be n made to the police magistrate in relation to these, as well as other and less flagrant violations of the city ordinance, prohibit-ing street nuisances. The attention of police constables is invited to this matter, because it is their especial duty to enforce the hog law and to arrest street beggars, who are, in most cases, imposters, or "idle and disorderly persons, without any visible means of support"

Two warrants were issued by Justice Thomp son, but a few days ago, against colored women for open profunity in the public streets; but the offenders, in these two cases, have not yet, we learn, been caught.

A warrant was issued yesterday to Officer King against a female keeper of a small grocery, charging her with selling spirituous liquor in quantities less than a pint, without obtaining a license. This case, it is thought by the officer, will be tried by Justice Donn.

INCENDIARISM .- About 2 o'clock on Sunday morning the wood sawing and splitting mill of T. J & W. M. Galt, at the foot of Seventeenth street, was discovered to be on fire. The presence of the fire was ascertained by one of the hands in the employ of the Messis Galt, who was sleeping in the mill. A few minutes afterwards several of the hands were awakened, and rushing out found the flames too powerfal to be stayed, and in a short space the whole structure, together with about forty cords of split wood, a buggy and several sets of har-ness were consumed. The wood splitting ma-chine was entirely destroyed, together with a portion of the engine, but it is thought the engine may be repaired. Total loss is $4,000 and no insurance. The men who first took the alarm of fire, on first rushing out saw a man standing on the bridge near by whom they all recognized as a recently dismissed employee of Messrs.
Gait He had refused to work under the orders of a German foreman, and had a few weeks ago been discharged, and in leaving had threatened vengeance. This morning the proprietors laid complaint against this man before a magistrate, and had a warrant taken on! for his arrest. They commence the work of rebuilding on the same site to-day, and in a few weeks will again be in operation.

THE NEW YORK LEDGER .- Quite six thousand copies of the number of the New York Ledger containing the first paper contributed to that journal by the Hon. Edward Everett, were sold in the city of Washington, and if we are correctly informed that figure represents its average circulation here at this time. We are not surprised at the fact, because it is really conducted with more tact and better taste than any other American weekly of its class. It is not wonderful, turrefore, that full three hundred and fifty thousand copies of the Ledger are printed every week. Mr. Bonner, its publisher, comprehends three essential things in the successful conduct of a popular publication. Thus, he is a capital judge of the style of composition to please the mass of American readers; he also knows well that a thousand dollars judiciously expended in advertising invariably insures a return of at least two thousand dollars in the way of extra profits, in any business whatever; and he also is not afraid to pay layishly to recure the services of popular writers, such as he announces in the advertisement of his Ledger, which will be found

THE MISSING MAN .- The Mr. Thomas Jasper of Culpeper county, Va., a cattle drover, who was advertised as "missing" in Saturday's Star, is supposed by his friends to have been murdered in this city for the sake of the $500 he had about him, and which he is known to have been showing, while intoxicated, around the puritieus of the Centre Market on the night of Saturday, the 5th of February inst. With the exception of an occasional propensity to frolic, he was in all respects a most estimable and deserving young man. We fear that the suspicion of his friends is but too true; and that he has failen a victim to the mercenary designs of some murderous miscreants among us. It behoeves the police to probe the mystery of his sudden and unaccountable disappea; ance to the bottom.

INQUEST - Yesterday an inquest was held in MADAME JESSIE WHITE MARIO'S LECTURE on the Fifth Ward over the body of an infant which had been found the night before on the steps of harmonic Hall, on Saturday evening, was at- Justice McKenna's residence. The general supposition is that the parents of the infant were thable to bury it, and placed it where it would receive the attention of the city authorities without exposing the poverty of the parents. It was a white child between one and two weeks old. The jury returned as a verdict that they were unable to decide the cause of death.

> He, FOR MOUNT VERNON !-- It will be perceived from an advertisement in another column of the Star, that the steamer Thomas Collyer is, until after the close of the present session of Congress, to run to Mount Vernon three times a week The large increase in the number of strangers visiting Washington makes this change neces-sary. The trip is a delightful one. No stranger who has not yet stood at the tomb of Washington should fall to avail him or herself of the opportunity of doing so the trips of the Collyer afford.

SENT Down .- This morning, two small boys prought to the guardhouse the carcase of a sheep just killed and unskinned. It was found in an arch, between Fourth and Fifth, on H street. It is probable that the sheep-stealer drove the ani-mal in the arch and killed it, and left it till a favorable opportunity for its removal There being no claimant, the carcase was sent to the asylum.
